50% better roadability than any conventional type trailer
Silver Streak is the only manufacturer of an all-aluminum trailer to stretch form its own roof bows, door headers, door jams and floor channels—your assurance of better quality.

The ribs are placed in position and the sides are being riveted on.

The finest materials are used for draperies and bedspreads which are tailored by our own drapery department.

The body of the SILVER STREAK trailer is two complete shells one inside the other, separated by a blanket of plastic treated fibreglass insulation, riveted together as one unit on extruded aluminum stretch formed bows and stringers. Outside skin is of anodized aluminum. Inside skin and cabinets are hardwood of our own unique design. Door headers and frames are also stretch formed from extruded aluminum "Z" sections.

Trunk available on all models.

Corner windows w/protective aluminum covers standard equipment on Continental models; optional on all other models.
Silver Streak's chassis is wrapped with spun glass insulation. Note that the chassis is completely covered with aluminum.
Silver Streak Quality Speaks For Itself

All materials used in Silver Streak trailers are carefully selected to insure a fine quality product. Silver Streak all aluminum trailers are large enough to be comfortable and light enough to tow with the average small or medium size car. Our design has proved to be very important for the ease of towing. Wind resistance and vacuum is reduced to a minimum. A trailer which is safe to tow on any road or highway makes trailer traveling very enjoyable.

Resale value is another important factor. Silver Streak trailers have maintained an unbelievable resale value on the used trailer market. Because of our all aluminum riveted aircraft type construction Silver Streak trailers are just as solid and sturdy after years of travel as they were when new. Very little maintenance is required. The demand for used Silver Streaks is much greater than the supply, which makes the purchase of a Silver Streak a fine investment. The difference in depreciation between Silver Streak and a wood frame travel trailer is great. After five years of use your Silver Streak is worth more than 60% of the original purchase price, plus a ready buyer whenever one is offered for sale.

ONLY by COMPARISON with other trailers can you be SURE of getting the MOST for your money.
